SAVE THE DATE: PRESENTATION ON VENDOR MANAGEMENT IN THE AGE OF FINANCIAL INNOVATION

We are in an era of rapid financial innovation. As regulators, banks and other financial services providers become more comfortable with advancements in technology, more financial services providers will look to adopt technology and engage Fintechs. Understanding the dynamic relationships between financial services providers and Fintechs is critical for both start ups looking to grow their businesses and established financial services providers looking to stay competitive in the changing marketplace.

On Tuesday, May 22nd, Emily Cellier and Susan Seaman will present on "Vendor Management in the Age of Financial Innovation" at the Columbus Bar Association's Financial Services Committee monthly meeting. The Columbus Bar Association's office is located at 175 S. Third Street, Suite 1100, Columbus, Ohio 43215. The program starts at noon.

The non-CLE presentation will (i) outline third-party risk management expectations, (ii) discuss challenges with financial services partnerships both from a bank's perspective and from a Fintech's perspective and (iii) highlight recent federal enforcement actions arising from vendor management issues.

We hope to see you there. ☐
